SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

The graduate, post-graduate and PhD programs at Tel Aviv University's Maurice and Gabriela Goldschleger School of Dental Medicine are extremely demanding. Entrance requirements are high, and we expect our students to aim for excellence from day one.

Most of our students begin their graduate studies in their mid twenties, having first completed national service of some kind. Many are already financially independent from their parents yet not fully able to support their studies on their own.

The route through dental school requires significant dedication and focus. In addition to hours spent in classes, there are practical labs to complete and clinics to attend. The pace is intense, and there is no time to work along with studying.

After graduation, many of our students would like to begin one of our post-graduate, specialization programs which include Pediatric Dentistry, Oral Rehabilitation, Endodontics, Periodontics and Implantology, Oral Medicine, Oral Pathology and Orthodontics.

Post-graduate programs, (which take up to four years to complete), are prohibitively expensive for prospective students who are, by now, often starting their own families and paying back student loans. They cannot afford to take time from their paid positions to return to study with no financial support.

The result is a lack of dental specialists nationally, especially in the periphery.

Innovations in the dental field depend on our ability to attract the brightest scholars to our doctoral program. In order to maintain our cutting-edge teaching and research, we encourage our staff to obtain a PhD in addition to a DMD. Our PhD candidates are also in need of stipends so that we are able to attract the very best students and potential researchers.

Scholarship Funding Opportunities

To ensure the future of excellent dental care in Israel we must lighten the burden of dental school fees for deserving students. Help us to do exactly that.
